The History

Stillman & Birn has been associated with the art materials industry in the United States for decades. The original company was founded in 1958 by Philip Birn (1911 – 2004), a highly admired Viennese bookbinder who brought his "old world" craftsmanship to a small plant in the SoHo section of Manhattan. From his plant at 270 Lafayette Street, Philip Birn pioneered the concept of the black hardbound sketchbook.

In 2019, Stillman & Birn was added to the Clairefontaine Rhodia family of art papers.

Because of the robust quality of our papers, we believe that our sketchbooks inspire creativity: artists can feel confident to experiment with new ideas and materials because our papers support the most demanding techniques on paper.

Our Manufacturing

Stillman & Birn products are proudly made in the USA and shipped from our manufacturing facility in Hamburg, NY. Because we are one of the few fine art companies that are vertically integrated, controlling the entire production cycle from manufacture of our papers through to the binding process, we are not only able to guarantee consistent quality, but also to minimize environmental impact.

Sketchbook System

In order to meet the wide range of artists' needs, Stillman & Birn's sketchbook system gives them the choice of paper weight, shade, and surface type best suited to their specific techniques. With both internal and surface sizing, our papers have exceptional wet strength that supports the application of multiple washes. Similarly, just as the paper's sizing slows down water absorption, pigment stays on the surface of the sheet. The result: remarkably glowing color!

Our hardbound bindings - stiff when new - are designed to be broken in. The spines get eased in and then lay completely flat, accommodating both two-page drawing layouts and flatbed scanning. The wirebound bindings allow for your book to lay and remain flat and easy removal of pages to archive or share. The softbound covers are sewn bound allowing flexibility while remaining durable. Rounded corners prevents frayed edges and gives each book an elegant finish.

Pastelmat - 360g

A unique surface for pastels and colored pencils. Offers exceptional control for rich painterly effects.

The pastel adheres so well to this paper that you don't need to use a fixative between each layer. You are able to multiply the layers without a saturation effect. Pastelmat brings new opportunities for pastel artists, offering a coarser surface than velour but a softer surface than sand paper.

- Organic Velvety Surface: strong, velvety surface that has more tooth than traditional Ingres papers but without the abrasive qualities of sanded papers
- Vibrant Color: surface grabs onto the pastel, breaking up the pigment and pulls it deep into the surface for exceptionally vibrant color
- Painting with Pastel: surface has unique interaction with pastels, allowing the artist to create painterly effects with soft, buttery marks.
- Blending: remarkable control, allowing for effortless, precision blending of pigments.
- Layering: Supports building up multiple layers of pigment to control color tone and intensity.
- Washes: Holds up to water or solvent-based washes.
- No need for fixatives: surface pulls and holds pigment so deeply, fixatives are not needed to keep the color stable.
- Supports All Pastel Types: supports the application of soft, medium and hard pastels, Cray-Pas® and other oil pastels, PanPastel® colors as well as pastel pencils.
- Mixed Media Surface: in addition to pastel and pastel pencils, it will support most dry and wet media including: oil pastels, charcoal, colored pencils, acrylics, watercolors and gouache.
- Acid free, pH neutral
- Pastelmat® pads are bound with glassine barrier sheets between each page to prevent smudging.

Clairefontaine Aquapad NEW

Clairefontaine's new Aquapad is a high-quality yet economical surface on which to create compelling watercolor artwork. These big chunky pads feature heavyweight 300 gsm natural white paper (no optical brighteners used) with a cold press surface on one side and fine grain surface on the other. The paper is double-sized to provide exceptional wet strength, stability and color vibrancy. Double-sizing enables Aquapad's paper to accept all wet techniques beautifully, without warping or buckling. The surface allows for an easy, even flow of paint, and supports advanced techniques such as layering, blending and lifting. New to the U.S. fine-art market, European artists report enthusiastic reviews about Aquapad's cost to value ratio.
